The Stock Show a Great Success.

Tuesday morning was the day set apart for the opening of our annual Stock Show and Reunion. It had rained the day before and all of the conditions were favorable. There was a notable absence of those great clouds of dust which characterized the last meeting much to the delight of everybody in attendance. Fully five thousand people were on the grounds. The Auburn band furnished the music. There was a large display of horses and colts, but not much cattle. The improvement in horse flesh was noted on all sides, and if it keeps on it will soon be the case that Clarksville will be as celebrated for her fine saddle and harness horses, as she is now, and always will be, for her tobacco. Gentle showers through the day refreshed the multitude, but interfered with the base ball games and bicycle races. The success of the enterprise has encouraged the directors, and the premium list will be extended as the association grows older. It is certainly an ideal place for such an entertainment, and our farmers deserve every encouragement.

NOTES.

Jay Jackson displayed a beautiful and rare golden band lily. The Jackson boys are as celebrated for their flowers as they are for their meat and singing.
Capt. Gracey's handsome holstein bull was an object of comment.
Col. Polk Prince was handsome and attentive as usual.
There were more beautiful ladies and handsome men than ever before.
Miss Eva Saunders purchased Dr. Bradley's famous gelding.
Mr. Bob Baker, of Trigg county, lost his beautiful bay harness horse. It was thought to be a case of blind staggers.
The ladies at the Cave Hotel deserve especial mention for their handsome floral decorations.
Goldust is hard to beat, so is Jim Gill.
The loss of the clover crop last year by drouth, reduced the exhibit of Short-horns this season. The clover crop in this section is the greatest factor in the production of beef. The exhibit of Jerseys, however, was unusually good.
Mr. Mark Cockrill says that the State Fair, ought to be held at Dunbars Cave.
Mr. C. H. Tandy's two year old Membrino colt, beat Goldust. This is a high compliment, as it is the first time Goldust was ever beaten.
District No. 21 scored another victory in the colt exhibit. Andrew Bird and Arthur O'Neal, both have good stock, and they know how to show them.
The display of John Kings colts was one of the notable features of the Stock Show. John King is owned by Mr. Jim Ferguson of this county, and is one of the finest combined saddle and harness stallions in the South. John King is a great horse, and Jim Ferguson is a genial fellow.

Eight thousand tickets were sold. Master Louis Daniel, took the blue ribbon in the boys riding ring. He bore his honors gracefully, and is a capital rider.
Mr. Morris Clark and Miss Fannie Barker, make a handsome couple, and their riding is equal to the best.
Among the celebrated horses exhibited, was Mr. Walter Barker's Pilot Jr. This stallion is the greatest flying representative of his famous family of trotters. He has more of the blood of Pilot Jr., in him than either Jay-Eye-See or Maud S. He is now four years old, and stock men predict for him a great future.
